

Can your IT Department do everything?

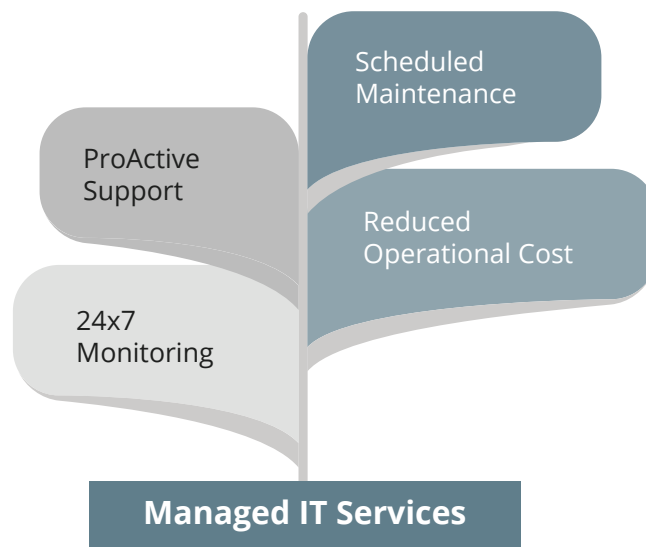

Support and administration to keep your business processes running smoothly.

We provide the service you need with the right resources to keep your business processes running. Sofbang can meet your IT management needs whether they are on-premises, remote or cloud-based.

Sofbang understands the increasing amount of pressure businesses face outsourcing services that solve various problems to meet the requirements of the employer.

If an application is off-the-shelf or custom made, the need for administration and support is always present. Sofbang can provide your business with a level of administration and support to keep your business process running smoothly.

As changes come along, our support staff addresses them in an effective and timely manner.

Sofbang focuses on preventative maintenance and proactive monitoring. Our trained staff has expertise in the development of applications so when called to implement application modification; they can be readily executed to meet the ever-changing business environment. Not only do we support applications, but also the infrastructure they reside on. System administration and monitoring are part of the overall IT administration and support.

Solution Features

- Trained staff with the ability to support multiple technologies at the same time
- Ability to work within existing support organization as an integrated partner
- Application monitoring utilizing standard industry tools
- Proactive 24/7/365 monitoring, utilizing standard industry tools

Why Sofbang?

Sofbang blends agility to overcome the many challenges in managing infrastructure and reducing costs. Our team of experts provide services as required. We use an ITIL based approach to provide the best services to our customers utilizing advance tools where required. We offer monitoring and maintenance at lower costs and offer 24/7 support for your convenience.